PMI-OC Project Management Conference 2012

Leadership and Project Management: The Crossroads of Project Success

Please join us at the annual PMI-OC Project Management Conference for an incredible experience of learning, sharing, networking, and celebrating Patriots Day with Orange County's premier project management organization.

The conference is open to company executives, project managers, project team members, and anyone interested in learning about using the principles of project management and leadership. PMI members and non-members are welcome.

Conference Highlights

- The proclamation of Project Management Day by Orange County's mayors, state assemblymen, a U. S. Congressman, and other dignitaries, and a color guard ceremony in remembrance of September 11, 2001

- Four PDUs for the certified PMP, as well as learning something new to take to work the next day
- Words for leadership from keynote speaker, Troy Hazard
- Six tracks of education and leadership sessions
- A cross-functional panel discussion comprised of industry leaders, focusing on the future of project management
- Networking and dinner

When:

Tuesday, September 11, 2012
3 -9 pm

Where:

Wyndham Orange County Hotel
3350 Avenue of the Arts
Costa Mesa, CA 92626

Keynote Speaker Troy Hazard

There are theory specialists, and then there are those who have been there. Troy Hazard, recent global president of the elite Entrepreneurs' Organization, has survived moments of sheer desperation in business. Drawing from a lifetime of innovative, real-life leadership experience, Troy now shares his powerful lessons from the edge.

The conference will include two tracks, leadership and PM education. There will be three sets of concurrent breakout sessions, each with leadership and education speakers.
